Transcript of results 2022/3

If you have failed a module, you may be eligible to resit the assessment or repeat the module. Do check your school handbook/assessment regulations for further guidance. It is important you speak to your academic or personal tutor to seek advice on failed modules, and opportunities available to you, your school will be able to advise.

If you feel there is a mistake on your transcript or wish to challenge the decision of the Examining Board, you can obtain independent advice from the Students' Union Advice team who can assist you in raising an Academic Appeal if appropriate to do so. Full information on the Academic Appeals procedure is available on the final page.

Section 2 shows the breakdown of your module results for each module you attempted, including the marks for each of your assessment components and how many attempts you have taken. Please note: if you have had multiple attempts at an assessment component, your mark may have been capped at the "pass mark" in line with the regulations.

Section 3 – Understanding your Results and sources of advice and support available

There is a lot of information in this interim transcript, and it is important that you understand what it means to you and how it impacts on your studies. There is guidance on your results on the student intranet, as well as the table below which explains each of the terms used in the assessment section of the results and how that effects your progression.

Advice and support

Getting results you are not happy with, or that you were not expecting, can be very upsetting and often quite a shock at first. If you are not happy with your results, do not understand them, or are concerned about the impact they will have on you, there is advice and support available as detailed below:

- Academic and Personal Tutors are there to support you and guide you on the results you have attained. They can help you understand the results and options open to you for resitting assessments where that is permitted. Where you need to take or resit assessments during the next academic session, you may also have a choice whether you study as an internal or external student (unless the programme requires you to repeat internally). Information on what this means is available via the student intranet and details of your personal tutor can be found on your SIMS record.
- Student Life Service provide advice and support on a range of issues: Advice & Money, Student Visa Support, Counselling & Wellbeing. Full details of this support are available on the University intranet.
- Student Advice in the Students' Union are a free, confidential and independent service available for students of Cardiff University. They are independent of the University and provide impartial advice and guidance to help you understand the options available to you. They can advise on the University's rules, including how to appeal your result. They can also talk to you about your options if your results have an impact on your accommodation.

How to appeal

This transcript is your results letter and confirms the decision of the Examining Board. If you wish to appeal the decision of the Examining Board, further information is available on the student intranet by searching Academic Appeals. You have 28 days from the date this transcript was emailed to you, to appeal a decision of the Examining Board.

You are only permitted to appeal on one or more of the grounds listed below. Please also read the guidance notes provided and look for further information on the student intranet by searching 'appeals':

1. an arithmetical or other error of fact in the results published following the decision of the Examining Board;
2. a defect or irregularity in the conduct, the written instructions or written advice relating to an Assessment either: unknown to the Examining Board which can be shown to have had an adverse effect on the student's performance; or known to the Examining Board and where the Board has acted unreasonably;
3. Extenuating Circumstances either unknown to the Examining Board where the student can show good reason why they could not have been made known to the Examining Board when the student's results were being considered; or known to the Examining Board and where the Board has acted unreasonably.

If you would like independent, confidential, free advice about the Academic Appeals Procedure or any other University procedure, you can contact Student Advice in the Students' Union on 02920 781410 or advice@cardiff.ac.uk. Information is also available on their webpages cardiffstudents.com/advice.

General Information

Enrolment: Information regarding enrolment will be sent to you via email prior to the start of the next academic session. It is important that you follow the instructions and seek advice on the actions you need to take if you are unsure about anything.

Resitting Modules: Your ability to resit/repeat will depend on the rules of your programme. It is important that you speak to your academic or personal tutor to seek advice on any failed modules and the action you may need to take. You may also need advice about any financial, accommodation or visa implications of repeating.
